HUNT FOR SLACKERS IS UNDER WAY

WASHINGTON, June 9.—In nine states a determined hunt for slackers is on today.

As returns from registration for selective service are compiled in the most marshalled-general's office here, it is found nine states are more than 150,000 short of estimates made by the census bureau.

Some officials figured that this ratio would mean a shortage of nearly half a million for the whole country. Only four out of fourteen states have so far made complete official returns have shown a registration exceeding census bureau estimates.

A startling shortage was shown by Mississippi reports. Complete official returns from that state showed the registration 38,081 below estimates.

Alabama's complete official reports showed that state 34,967 short.

Wisconsin went more than 11,000 over her estimate.

Illinois, North Carolina and Connecticut also were well over the estimates for those states.

The full returns from Mississippi are: Total registration, 139,525; claimed, 139,525; possible exemptions, 49,337; total whites registered, 64,334; negroes claiming exemption, 47,197; total negroes 74,573; aliens, 567; alien enemies, 45.

Alabama's returns were: Total registration 179,838; claimed and possible exemptions, white, 75,372; total whites, 108,510; negroes claiming exemption or possible exemption, 45,106; total negro registration, 69,956; aliens, 1173; alien enemies, 89.

BERNHARDT FILM

The world's greatest star, Sarah Bernhardt, is coming to the Sequoia Theatre, Telegraph ave. and 25th st., Sunday and Monday in the world's greatest photoplay of the greatest war in the world. This tremendous production is entitled "Mothers of France," and it shows Madame Bernhardt's wonderful artistry at its best.

The feature was written by Jean Richpin, famous member of the famous French Academy, and was directed by Louis Mercanton. Many of the scenes were taken in the French first trenches, in the hospitals, and in the ruined villages of France through which the Germans advanced and then retreated. "Mothers of France" presents an interesting story of the effect on a group of people of the big war. This group of people are seen happily engaged in their daily tasks before the advent of the war. Then they are seen torn apart by war and later the remaining members of the group are seen trying to patch together a fragment of happiness.

SAILOR IS ACCUSED

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—The Federal grand jury here today indicted Max V. Thierichens, former captain of the seized German auxiliary cruiser Prinzess Alice, on charges of conspiracy and smuggling.

In addition, Captain Thierichens was indicted on a charge of violating the Mann white slave act.

MAKES AIR TRIP

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 9.—Ruth Law, Liberty Bond aviator, completed a trip from St. Joseph, Mo., to Kansas City, an estimated flying distance of seventy-five miles in fifty-eight minutes this morning.

G. A. R. VETERANS BUY LIBERTY BOND

'BIG DRIVE' PLAN NOW UNDER WAY

In '61 they offered their lives to their country. In '61 they were young and sturdy. In '61 Lincoln said: "Men, we need you to preserve the Union. Our country cannot exist half slave and half free." And they answered the call, patriotically, without hesitation.

And yesterday these men—gray-bearded now, stoop-shouldered old fellows, who once a year march down the streets in faded blue uniforms—members of Lyon Post No. 8, Grand Army of the Republic, hearkened to the call of Woodrow Wilson.

They subscribed $200 to the Liberty loan.

They voted practically every cent that was in the treasury of their compact little organization.

"We wish we had more," they said when the roll call was read and each soldier-like and firm, had responded "Aye."

The vote of Lyon Post, G. A. R., has been recorded at the headquarters of the Liberty loan committee for Alameda and Contra Costa counties in the Syndicate building.

When the volunteer Liberty bond salesman meet a man who hesitates about buying a Liberty bond they will tell the story of the "boys of Lyon Post."

Patriotism is the keynote of the Liberty bond campaign.

Roosevelt, in a recent telegram to the Liberty loan committee of the twelfth federal reserve district, explained this patriotic motive. He said:

"The highest human service is that of the man who offers his life to his country. Next to that comes the service in factory and farm and office which helps keep the great national war machinery efficiently working.

And the outstanding and fundamental need, without which nothing can be accomplished, is the need for money; money from rich and poor alike; money in large sums and small. If you can't enlist—invest. Buy Liberty bonds.

"We have joined the war on the side of liberty; of liberty for all mankind. Long after this war is over we shall continue in the struggle to achieve liberty and order for all the brotherhood of mankind. To do it effectively we must bind ourselves together as a nation, and there is no surer bond between man and his country than that he shall be a bondholder of his country. Let us make the 'bondholders' and 'the people' interchangeable terms. Let us see that this bond issue is a bond issue of the democracy."

In the Liberty loan bonds an opportunity is now presented not merely for a few thousands, but for tens of millions of Americans to give practical demonstration of their loyalty by rallying to the support of the United States in this crisis we discourage our enemies and hearten our allies. To own bonds of the United States at such a time is a badge of honor.

And so the final drive for the Liberty loan in Alameda and Contra Costa counties is on.

Only six more days remain before June 15, when the subscription campaign closes.

Alameda and Contra Costa counties are sadly behind in their investments in Liberty bonds.

There are slackers in the east bay district.

It is the aims and purposes of the Liberty loan committee, headquarters Syndicate building, to locate and put on record those men and women who

WEALTH OF NATION IS BEHIND LIBERTY BONDS.

They are Uncle Sam's direct promise to pay. His wealth is estimated at $250,000,000,000, or close to $250 billion per capita.

His yearly income is estimated at about $10,000,000,000.

His yearly savings are over $3,000,000,000, which is about the entire amount of his outstanding debt, including the present issue of Liberty bonds.

His banks carry total resources of about $35,000,000,000, exceeding by far the greatest banking resources ever before shown in any country.

His entire wealth is estimated as more than the combined wealth of Great Britain, France and Germany.

His outstanding debt per capita, even after the present $2,000,000,000 loan is sold, will be about $30, or less than one-tenth that of either Great Britain, France or Germany.

Not once has Uncle Sam failed to pay a single dollar of his obligations.

Uncle Sam is the richest man in the world, and enjoys the best of credit.

He is asking you now to loan him money to carry on a war to protect his ideals.

can and who do not buy a Liberty bond.

Are you wearing a Liberty bond button?

The button is obtainable at all banks where you invest in Liberty bonds or may be had at headquarters in the Syndicate building, where your subscription will be taken.

PLANS OF CAMPAIGN.

Plans have been completed for launching the final "big push." Joseph Rosborough, postmaster, has taken charge of the speakers. Edwin B. Bull as manager of the speakers' bureau. These men have more than 120 speakers on their roll—men who are anxious and willing to talk anywhere at any time.

Headquarters are in room 808, Syndicate building.

On the tenth floor of the Syndicate building Joseph H. King and L. H. King are in charge of the speakers and distribution work. These men, co-operating with Bull and Rosborough and their scores of volunteer assistants will generate meetings. These meetings will bring together employees, employers, businessmen and professional men, dentists, doctors, lawyers.

Edson F. Adams is chairman of the executive committee, with C. Edwin Oyster as secretary. Executive officers are located in room 808, Syndicate building.

LIVERMORE SETS RECORD.

At headquarters today a telephone message from L. M. MacDonald of the Bank of Italy at Livermore reported that the town had sold more than $100,000 in Liberty bonds.

The Steinway Terrace Improvement Club depleted its treasury by voting $50 for a Liberty bond. Individual members of the club have also subscribed.

The Widows' and Orphans' Association of the police department has invested $5000 in Liberty bonds.

Organized labor is energetically getting behind the Liberty loan. Samuel J. Donohue, business agent of the Building Trades Council, has invested $1000. The Painters' Union, the Laborers' Union and other unions have bought Liberty bonds.

Fruitvale Aerie of Eagles, No. 1375, has bought $300 of the bonds.

The Pacific Fraternal Society is another organization that has come forward in this campaign. At its last meeting the society directed its trustees to purchase a $1000 bond.

Following a meeting of representatives from neutral and warring countries in response to an invitation from Charles H. Mosier, chairman of the Liberty loan committee for San Francisco, and A. C. Kains, governor of the federal reserve bank, plans were completed for a mass meeting of the Norwegian-Americans in Veterans' Hall, 431 Taylor street, San Francisco, at 8 o'clock tonight. These men will invest in Liberty bonds.

Having invested in $250,000 of Liberty bonds the Sperry Flour Company has turned to the Liberty loan and offered a liberal installment plan for the purchase of Liberty bonds.

"It is a privilege and patriotic duty of every member of the Sperry family to invest in at least one Liberty bond," says the company in a letter to its employees.

The easy payment plan provides the following schedule of weekly payments on coupon bonds:

Denomination. Weekly payments
$50.00 bond. $1.00 per week.
$100.00 bond. $2.00 per week.
$500.00 bond. $10.00 per week.
$1000.00 bond. $20.00 per week.

"We cannot all enlist as soldiers, but each of us can buy at least one Liberty bond. It is the strongest investment you ever made in your life—absolutely secure. And it is ready money besides. It gives you opportunity to save your money and serve your country at the same time. Your plain duty lies straight ahead—buy a Liberty bond. And do it now," concludes the Sperry letter.

McADOO'S WARNING.

In a message sent to all the Liberty loan committees throughout the country Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo says:

RULES MADE FOR EXEMPTION BOARDS

SACRAMENTO, June 9.—California will exceed by a slight margin the 300,000 mark originally estimated for registration under the draft, according to revised returns that were received today by the State Bureau of Registration. Los Angeles has advised the bureau that at least 2000 names will be added to the list of that city from belated sources and absentee registrations and further names will be added to the lists from Santa Barbara and San Bernardino counties.

With the closing of the lists both the Governor's office and the bureau of registration, in charge of Director Ralph Merritt, turned their attention to the immediate formation of exemption boards, following direction from Provost Marshal General Crowder in Washington. Director Merritt said:

"The next step under the selective conscription bill is the formation of exemption boards, upon whom will fall the responsibility of determining the matter of exemptions.

"There will be one exemption board of three citizens, appointed by the President of the United States in each county of less than 45,000 inhabitants. In each county of more than 45,000 there will be a board of three for each 30,000. In certain cities boards will be appointed which will have jurisdiction within the lines to be prescribed by the mayors of the cities, and each board to have jurisdiction over an area which will contain approximately 30,000 inhabitants.

"San Francisco will have 16 boards, Oakland 2 boards, Berkeley 2 boards, Fresno 1 board, Los Angeles 18 boards, Pasadena 2 boards, Sacramento 2 boards, San Diego 2 boards, Stockton 1 board and San Jose 1 board.

"The counties which will have more than one board, exclusive of any of the cities just mentioned, are as follows: "Contra Costa 2, Alameda 3, Fresno 2, Los Angeles 3, Orange 2, Kern 2, San Bernardino 2, Riverside 2, Santa Clara 2, Tulare 2 and Stanislaus 2. All other counties will have one board for each county.

"Governor Stephens has now been directed by the War Department to nominate to the President of the United States all exemption boards. In the ten cities mentioned, the boards are to be suggested to the Governor for his approval by the mayors of the cities.

"In each of the counties, the County Councils are asked to suggest the names of the persons to serve on exemption boards. The County Councils are to have jurisdiction outside the limits of any of the cities.

"Governor Stephens today wired to each of the counties, asking each of the County Councils to suggest names for suggestions. Persons to be chosen are to be citizens who do not hold public office and who are not connected with the military without exception, they should represent in each community the highest type of citizenship and patriotism. All nominations are to be presented to the Governor not later than noon, Tuesday, June 12."

CHIEF AND JUDGE AT SWORDS' POINTS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—Chief of Police D. Augustus White is pondering today in an endeavor to decide just what is the result of his efforts to gain certain kindness of treatment for Mrs. Ward Barron, who is in trouble with the authorities of San Jose because of her proclivities for speeding.

Mrs. Barron is charged with having traveled faster than fifty miles an hour while en route to a fete gastronomic at the home of Mrs. Francis Carolan on May 21. Charles Teade, San Jose traffic policeman, told the court that Mrs. Barron had been arrested twice in San Mateo county within the sixty days preceding, whereupon Justice of the Peace P. E. Brown of San Jose declared if this was so he would cancel her automobile license. He continued the case to await the evidence.

At this juncture, Chief White entered the comedy-drama by writing a letter to Sheriff Langford of Santa Clara county, interceding for Mrs. Barron. The chief declares he understood that Mrs. Barron was about to be incarcerated, a proceeding which he branded as "all wrong," and that he asked the sheriff to see what he could do.

Justice Brown took Chief White's letter, which had been forwarded to him by Langford, and remanded it back to the chief, with reference to efforts to "influence the court's opinion." Chief White, while not entirely heart-broken over having his mail returned, is still of the opinion that Mrs. Barron should be given consideration, and insists that "Justice Brown ought to know how to behave in his presence."

The final chapter of this little roadside skit will be finished in Justice Brown's courtroom, when Mrs. Barron faces her highway speed record and Justice Brown's wrath. The date has not yet been set.

CASTRO VALLEY HEARS LECTURE

HAYWARD, June 9.—E. J. Houser, poultryman of the extension department of the University of California, lectured on the diseases of poultry in the evening week on the subject of "Diseases of Poultry." He spoke before members of the Castro Valley center of the farm bureau last night, and before the East Avenue center of the same organization this evening. His lecture was of great special significance, in view of the attempt of local poultrymen to combat the high cost of poultry feed by scientific methods.

One hundred women of this city attended the demonstration in canning fruit, vegetables and meats given by Mrs. L. D. Dyer, of the extension department of the California College of Agriculture Wednesday.

The store, somewhat isolated in location, offered the thieves special advantages for the thieves in making their getaway.

PRICE FIXING IS PLANNED BY HOOVER

By Robert J. Bender, United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, June 9.—Patriotism will be made the basis of food control during the war—at the start. Autocratic measures, such as absolute price fixing and requisition, will not be utilized except as a last resort.

From the farm to the kitchen the regulation of prices and supply will be administered through voluntary agreement, according to the plans of Herbert Hoover.

"Slackers," as Hoover terms those who might refuse to enter the proposed agreement, will be taken care of by powers to be authorized by Congress. Hoover proposes to have a controlling body in charge of each product that will come under his department. This body will be composed of representatives of every link in the chain from producer to consumer. They will work out a voluntary arrangement designed to conserve the food supply and greatly reduce prices.

There are certain to be a few objectors, but 75 per cent of those to be called upon will respond on patriotic grounds, Hoover believes. Powers to requisition must be given the government therefore to force the other 25 per cent to follow the leaders. Here is the Hoover plan, worked out from the farmer to the housewife with wheat as an example.

Each an agreement on a price for wheat, say $1.50 a bushel, based on a ten-year average pre-war price, with allowance for increased production cost.

Call the elevator owners of the country together and say to them: "The farmers are willing to give you wheat at $1.50. The government will arrange to loan you money necessary to pay the price and relieve you of going to the Chicago auction market to protect yourself."

Call the millers together and tell them the elevator has wheat at a basic price to the farmer, to which they added a legitimate charge, agreed upon for storage, grading and the like, and are now ready to sell it to the miller at a price to be stipulated.

The miller will then be urged to mill a straight flour and to agree on a fixed charge for so doing so that the consumer will get the flour at practically a flat rate with some variation for transportation.

Following $1.50 wheat through the course, Hoover says, would result in flour to the consumer at $6.50 or $7 a barrel—about one-half the present price.

"In other words," Hoover has declared, "here lies the protection of the consumer and at the same time, protection and inducement to the farmer and the elimination of speculation."

A similar course would be pursued along the channels of production and development in other necessities. Many elevator men have already responded to the idea will be prepared to start work along this line as soon as Congress creates the penalty measures which will eliminate the possibility of "slackers."

PRIORITY BILL. WASHINGTON, June 9.—The passage of a bill to expedite the shipment of foodstuffs, fuel and other necessities during the war is expected to be passed by the Senate by tonight. The bill would authorize the President to compel priority of shipment of foodstuffs, fuel and other necessities during the war.

Big Fruit Crop Is Expected Farm Production Very Heavy

One of the largest fruit crops of recent years will be gathered this season in California, according to the reports of growers compiled by State Commissioner George H. Hacke for the forty-five fruit producing counties of the state. The cool weather during May has not proved injurious, and with the most critical period of the season passed, it is believed that with the usual care and continued favorable climatic conditions, a record harvest may be prophesied.

Production in Alameda county is estimated at 2,500,000 bushels, one hundred per cent as normal. Berries, 100 per cent; peaches, 80; plums, 80; cherries, 60; apricots, 60; peaches, 60; apples, 60; prunes, 45; and almonds, 40.

For the state in general, the crop condition on June 1 forecasts the following harvest: Oranges, 100 per cent; walnuts, 95; olives, 95; figs, 95; apples, 92; lemons, 81; pears, 89; peaches, 86; prunes, 77; cherries, 69; apricots, 65; plums, 61; almonds, 59. Almonds are tied with last year's report, but other crops show a large increase. Apricots, for example, advanced from 40 per cent last year to 65 this year; peaches from 58 to 86; pears from 63 to 89 and prunes from 52 to 77.

From a commercial viewpoint, Alameda county ranks low in the fruit producing reports, appearing in only three columns: producing 2 per cent of the total California pear crop, 9 per cent of the cherry crop and 14 per cent of the apricot crop.

Did Theodore Chesley Staffler and Miss Wilhelmina Mary Train need any proof that their friends were a true love, the chain of circumstances which led to the simple marriage ceremony of yesterday was convincing enough. Miss Train is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. McHenry Train of Santa Cruz and a sister of E. Swift Train to whom Miss Elinor McNear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McNear, recently and lovingly betrothed. Staffler is the son of G. C. Staffler, a merchant of Santa Cruz. He is well known in the Olympic club and is connected with a large concern across the bay.

The romance of young Staffler and Miss Train promised a charming conclusion last September, when the couple took out a license in Sacramento and made quiet plans for their marriage. But the wedding did not take place. Mrs. Train, who had been unsuspiciously remaining at the summer home near Tahoe, learned of the proposed ceremony in time to enter serious objection. It was decided that the ceremony should accompany her to Honolulu on a pleasure trip. The tour was made. While the sister was quietly awaiting the time of the home-coming, her brother was seeking romance and devoting the days to the winning of the promise of Miss McNear to be his bride. The promise was won. The Train family party at last decided to return to California.

Miss Train was met by Staffler and both young people vowed that their hearts had suffered no change. Yesterday a new license was obtained in San Francisco, Staffler giving his age as 20 and his bride as 22. Superior Judge Thomas F. Graham read the ceremony with the clerk of his court, William McNulty, acting as witness.

The courtship of the bridal pair dates back to the high school days when Cupid made merry while each of them was studying the intricacies of geometry. They will probably decide to make their home in San Francisco.

A Triduum of devotion, consisting of special prayers and religious exercises, will be held in St. Mary's Church, Eighth and Jefferson streets, in honor of St. Anthony of Padua, from June 10 to June 12. The chapel of St. Anthony, depicting the picture as it does the life of this saint and hero of Christianity, is one of the features of St. Mary's Church.

The statue and shrine are gifts of members of St. Mary's congregation. The services during the Triduum will consist of masses each morning at 7 and 9 o'clock and special evening devotions each evening at 8 o'clock. The evening services will consist of prayers of the intercessory powers of St. Anthony and instructions by the priests of the parish and benediction of the blessed sacrament.

The music of the three days' service will be rendered by the children's choir of St. Mary's school, in which the members of the congregation will join. The chapel of St. Anthony will be beautifully decorated with flowers and lights during the Triduum. Tomorrow, the first day of the Triduum, there will be eight services in St. Mary's Church, consisting of masses in the morning at 8:30, 9, 10, 11 and 12:15. St. Rita devotion at 4 p. m. and St. Anthony devotions in the evening at 8 o'clock.

MAY HOLD PARADE. SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—San Francisco's selective service registrants will stage a great patriotic demonstration and parade on July 4. The parade will be held in the city streets, starting at the City Hall and ending at the Exposition grounds. A committee of citizens, it is proposed to use this plan to bring personally before the public the men who offered their services for the nation's defense on registration day.

IS DRAFT SUICIDE. SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—Jacob Rauschu, 39 years old and a laborer, living at the Acme hotel, walked into a saloon at Third and Howard streets yesterday evening and committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. The police are investigating to find a motive, believing that the draft act theory might have caused Rauschu to take his life.

CONSTANCY WINS STAFFLER BRIDE

SUSPECT HELD AS "COUNTRY CLUB ROBBER"

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—Alleged to be the "country club" crook who has been the subject of much idle and complimentary gossip among the smart set at fashionable country clubs and house parties, Horace Potts, said to be one of the cleverest "dips" and "diamond nippers" in the country, was arrested early today. Involved in his arrest are pretty women, clubs, diamonds and bank rolls. The complaint sets forth that he took $500 from Miss Ada Manis when she and Miss Pauline Hall were returning with him from a local country club. He had several rare gems and a big sum of money when seized.

AAHMES TEMPLE AIDS RED-CROSS

First, patriotism. Next, dancing. And every dollar, every cent to go to the Red Cross, the expenses to be paid by Aahmes Temple of Mystic Shrine.

These are the great features of the patriotic revue and ball, the date of which has been set for next Friday night at the Oakland municipal auditorium.

While the entertainment and its object is a very serious one, the management of the Red Cross feel that pleasure is an element that must not be overlooked, even in serious times and serious events. And so pleasure will be the key note of the evening, and that pleasure will find its culmination in the most magnificent dancing program that has ever been arranged in the city.

Dancing will begin shortly after nine o'clock and will last until midnight, and the latest exponent of modern dance music, the Jazz Band, will hold sway for the greater part of the evening.

It requires a "Jazz Band" to produce modern dance music. The day of the minuet and the piano and of the waltz and the string orchestra have gone and now it is the music of 1917 and the "Jazz Band," and so the management of this magnificent entertainment for the most worthy of objects, has determined to devote the greater part of the latest of dance music and have employed Jim Gray's "Jazz Band" to render this music. But while up to date, it will be of the highest class.

The entertainment with which the ball and revue will open will be stimulating in the extreme, and some of the most superb effects have been arranged.

The money derived from this entertainment will be paid into the funds of the American Red Cross society through the Oakland chapter, and will go to swell the amount that Oakland is expected to raise for this branch of the service of the nation.

FUND SUBSCRIBED

NEW YORK, June 9.—The War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Association announced last night that $3,000,000 has been subscribed for the erection of buildings and welfare activities among the military forces of the United States in foreign service.

The funds subscribed have come from all parts of the United States. The only large donations were $200,000 from John D. Rockefeller Jr. and $50,000 from the United States Steel Corporation.

TRAIN IS DERAILED

BENTON CITY, Mo., June 9.—A fast mail train No. 4, running between Kansas City and St. Louis, was derailed early this morning. The smoker and chair cars were partly turned over. Three sleepers were derailed. Many passengers received scratches and bruises, but none are thought to be seriously injured.

SECRETARIES TELL OF FEDERAL AIDS

The central California coast counties have completed a recapitulation of their resources available for Federal usage according to an official report made to the Oakland Chamber of Commerce by the members of the newly organized coast counties branch of the California Association of Commercial Secretaries.

In addition to announcing the mobilization of the resources of the various counties which they represented, the secretaries adopted a resolution tendering the services of their organization to the government in the furtherance of any additional compilation of data which the Federal authorities might desire. The remainder of the organization session held in the Hotel Oakland yesterday, was taken up with discussions of secretarial duties and the scope of commercial organization work. Managing Director Joseph E. Caine of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce presided.

The following were present: Joseph T. Brooks, San Jose Chamber of Commerce; Captain Caine, who presided; P. D. Cloud, Treasurer of Association of Central California, San Francisco; Wells Drury, Berkeley Chamber of Commerce; John P. Irish, Jr., Stockton Chamber of Commerce; L. M. King, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce; E. A. Law, Cotati Chamber of Commerce; J. A. Long, Richmond Chamber of Commerce; Warren Manley, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce of the United States; Walter H. Nagle, Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce; Edward J. Silver, Alameda Chamber of Commerce; R. R. Veale, Martinez, Contra Costa County Chamber of Commerce; J. E. Welsh, Hayward Chamber of Commerce; and H. Whitmore, Hollister Chamber of Commerce.

The secretaries will meet at Hotel Astor, August 11, for their next regular session.

ALIENS MUST GET PERMITS TONIGHT

German living or working within any of the restricted federal zones must be registered and provided with permits by 7 o'clock tonight or be subject to arrest and internment until the end of the war. This order has been issued by United States agents to alien residents.

According to United States Marshal James B. Holohan, in charge of the district of registration and investigation of applicants, more than 700 permits have been requested. Out of this number only seven have been refused on orders of Assistant United States District Attorney Caspar Orinbaum, who is handling this phase of the registration work.

The warning sent out by Marshal Holohan calls attention to the fact that the time allotment for securing permits expires at 7 o'clock tonight. Care must be taken in determining whether or not the applicant lives or works within the zone in question. In a recent case in San Francisco a permit was granted to a German bartender because he walked over two feet of zone territory in going to work.

IRISH WILL MEET

CHICAGO, June 8.—Leaders in the movement for an independent Ireland came here for an executive meeting arranged by the so-called "Committee of One Hundred." It was said that plans would be made for a national campaign for supporters for the movement to set up a separate government in Ireland. The Committee of One Hundred has members throughout the United States.

SATURDAY, JUNE 9, 1917.

THE GERMAN AUTOCRACY.

In an informative article in the World's Work for June may be found much that should now interest Americans. Earnest efforts have been made by German officials, through their propaganda in foreign countries, to convince the people of other lands that Germany is not ruled by an autocratic government. They would have the people of democracies believe that Germany is also a democracy. But the facts prove the falsity of this claim.

First, as to the part the Reichstag plays in the German legislative plan. A close examination discloses that this body, which is supposed to represent the people, does violence to the democratic idea. The laws governing its membership really antedate the German empire itself; they are the same as those which fixed the membership of the North German Confederation. That is, the "apportionment" of representatives dates from 1869. This provided that the representation, as it existed then, should remain fixed pending further legislation, and that further legislation has never been exacted. That is, the representation in the Reichstag today, for the states which made up the North German Confederation, is based upon the population of nearly fifty years ago. The theory is that there shall be one member for each 100,000 people, and on this basis Berlin, which had a population of about 600,000 in 1869, had six representatives. Today Berlin has a population of more than 2,000,000, yet it still has only six representatives in the Reichstag. This same situation prevails in all the cities of the old North German Confederation. The increasing powers have never reapportioned the representation so as to give the cities their due is no particular mystery. These cities are the centers of liberal thought and political reform, and especially of Socialism, and their enfranchisement might endanger the present autocratic regime.

How is "suffrage" regulated in Prussia? In Prussia the voters are divided into three classes, according to the amount of taxes they pay. In each electoral district the total amount of taxes paid is divided into three classes. Those citizens whose combined taxes represent one-third of the whole choose one-third of the electors. Those who pay the next one-third choose a third, and the next, who make up the mass of the population, choose the remaining third. In one district in Berlin three citizens pay one-third of the taxes, eight citizens pay another third, and 294 pay the remaining third. Thus the three men in the first class choose as many electors as the 294 in the third.

The election of 1903, when the Social Democrats first contested seats in the Prussian lower house, concretely illustrates how this system works. They cast 314,149 votes and the conservatives cast 324,157. The Social Democrats did not elect a single representative, while their opponents elected 143. In the last election preceding the war, the Social Democrats cast 24 per cent of the vote and elected seven members in a house of 420.

Practically this same system, with certain modifications, prevails in all the German states, with the exception of the Mecklenburgs, which have no representative chambers at all, their present system being a clear survival of mediaeval institutions.

Now we approach the question of "what is the German empire?"

"We, the people of the United States," begins the American Constitution, thus describing the source of political power. But here is the preamble to the constitution of the German empire: "His majesty, the King of Prussia, in the name of the North German Bund; his majesty, the King of Bavaria, etc., do conclude an everlasting Bund."

That is, the German empire is the creation, not of the German people, but of the German princes. It is a Bund—an association of twenty-two states and three free cities. It has no powers that these states do not confer. The German empire does not consist of 65,000,000 members—the population of Germany; it consists of twenty-five members, that is, the twenty-five communities of which it is composed. The empire is a highly artificial hothouse product; the realities are the German states, each one of which is the result of an immense amount of history. Sovereignty, so far as the empire is concerned, resides in the princes of the several states, just as much now as it did in the days when the empire did not exist.

It is the Bundesrath, or upper chamber of the German Parliament, which practically controls the empire. It is a council of delegates of the princes of the various German states and free cities. The rulers instruct these delegates how to vote. This body possesses an astonishing power. All taxing bills originate in it. While the Reichstag has the right to initiate legislation, it does not use that right to much purpose. The Bundesrath has the power of vetoing any measure passed by the Reichstag. Fourteen votes can defeat any proposed amendment to the constitution; the kaiser, as King of Prussia, controls twenty votes. In other words, Wilhelm II dominates the Bundesrath and therefore the entire German empire.

THE FISH MONOPOLY.

The governor having signed the bills giving more explicit authority to the State market director, it may reasonably be expected that there will be a different status as to some things we eat—fish, for instance. It has been the custom for one person who has managed to organize the fishermen about San Francisco bay and adjacent centers arbitrarily to say what shall be paid for fish.

The State cannot endow any official with power more absolute than this fish market dictator possesses. It is expected the new laws will at least enable the State to take the fixing of prices out of one individual's hands. Also, that it will put a stop to the practice of converting perfectly good human food into soil food when it occurs that there shall not be a demand for all that has been taken at the prices the fish monopoly fixes.

There has been some criticism of Colonel Harris Weinstock in his course of action as State market director, but nothing as offensively arbitrary as the man who is at the head of the fish monopoly is responsible for has ever been charged against him.

A DISTINGUISHED CALIFORNIAN.

Jeremiah Lynch was a Californian of striking individuality. This State, because of its dramatic development, produced many who have commanded the world's attention. But the later flow of events, being more commonplace, have not persisted in the development of unusual characters, and those of other times are slowly disappearing.

Mr. Lynch was one of the few survivors who reflected the old-time Californian spirit. It was said of him that he was as well known in Cairo as in San Francisco. Wherever he went—and he was a great traveler—he made congenial and important friends. He was not conventional in any sense, yet his unconventionality never seemed to take the form of eccentricity. Whatever he did out of the ordinary was accepted as the result of unusual insight and not put down as perverse individualism. Though never courting favor or popularity, he always enjoyed it. He was not a mere "mixer," but had high qualities of intellect, as his essays in authorship showed.

Hawaiians have suffered many things at the hands of the foreigner sojourning in their land. They have been robbed of their independence, much of their wealth and nearly all their land. Their native language has undergone such a decline that its utter disappearance can now be foreseen, and in the place of their native melody of speech they have been compelled to adopt "pidgin English," hybrid patois of all the people of the earth. Even the blood of their once sturdy race has been adulterated. The foreigner has made them put on woolen socks and heavy clothing and imposed other discomforts which should be unknown in a tropical climate; he has reformed their methods of eating poi and dog, and invaded Pale's sacred precincts on Mona Loa. But the worst is yet to come. American missionaries have started a crusade to abolish the native dance of the people—the hula hula. If this reform effort succeeds the future of the Hawaiian race is dark indeed. If you would completely destroy a people rob them of their music and the right to dance.

Governor Stephens refused to sign the measures passed by the legislature providing for the greater comfort of shell fish; the standardization of lime barrels; declaring rats, mice, gophers and ground squirrels a public nuisance; fixing the maximum number of pupils which may constitute a class; defining commission merchants and consignors, and regulating the fraudulent sale of foreign nuts. But these projects will no doubt be revived by the next legislature.

MEN'S PAY FOR WOMEN.

Equal pay for equal work, whether the employees are men or women, is the announcement of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company from its New York offices. A similar statement has been given out by some other organizations, while the movement is reported to be making headway throughout many States.

Apart from the question of Justice involved, this announced intention on the part of some of the great industrial organizations of the country is peculiarly timely in connection with all measures calculated to advance the successful prosecution of the war. With the Pennsylvania Railroad Company it is in furtherance with its earlier announcement that it would employ women wherever possible to fill the places of men called to military duty.

The task ahead calls for the men will do the work of the nation. Obviously, the men will do the work at the front, except in special lines where the services of women are more properly in demand, such as ministrations to the wounded in hospitals, the care of orphans and other helpless victims of war and similar lines of aid and mercy. But the shortage at home caused by military requirements will be enormously greater among men than among women, with resultant disturbances of employment features that call for immediate adjustment.

If the rule of equal pay for equal work is made general, there will be no losses in some departments of industry from which others may look for gain. The plan involves a common patriotism, will serve to keep business on a steady keel and will stimulate the fighter at the front through the knowledge that loved ones at home are not to be exploited through industrial conditions brought about by the war in which he is fighting.

It is scarcely open to question that the plan should be operative at all times, remembering, however, that under normal conditions the man is the wage-earner. There is one field in which this is not so generally true, namely, that of teacher. To a very large extent women are looked to for service in that capacity. It is an arduous as well as honorable calling and one that imposes immense responsibilities, and seldom is the pay commensurate with the degree of intelligence and the exacting character of the duties required.

NOTES and COMMENT

"A cablegram tells of riots at Prostějov, Moravia, Ostrava, Budejovice and Prague." Those who are surprised that such a thing should occur at these well-known centers will be interested.

A despatch from Massachusetts which tells about $53,200 being paid for a bull calf is a variant of the exciting occurrences of the times.

If wind could register in the military way there would not be such a discrepancy in the Los Angeles showing. But while wind may sell real estate and impress the tenderfoot, it is not accepted when noses are counted for soldier purposes.

From despatches it would appear that nearly all the slackers who have been arrested are foreigners, who do not appear to be interested in this country beyond exploiting it for a livelihood. When the nation gets around to it, it will be in order to at least ponder our amiability in maintaining such a very wide open door for the "oppressed of all nations."

The Chico Enterprise locates an unusual incident here: "Seagulls went for riding on a box car at Oakland. After all the bad examples in joy riding only a gull would fall for anything like that."

The Corning Observer essayist tackles pie: "Pie is a commodity you always forget to save room for. It is of three kinds: Plain, cross-bar and kivered. It's just the same with pie as it is with a building; a great deal depends on the architect. Some pie is like some persons—has an awful crust. And pie depends a good deal on geography. Pie in New England is an art, in the Middle West a habit, and in the average restaurant an insult."

Falling to help out the Liberty bonds when you are able is becoming almost as conspicuous as eluding military registration when you are eligible.

Six warring tongs have slamed an armistice. There is that much accomplished toward a world peace, at any rate.

The news is that the Germans have fined the city of Mons because a Belgian paper, published in Holland, had it that Prince Rupprecht was in Mons when that city was bombarded by airmen. Of course such a crime as that could not be permitted to go unpunished.

Although a soldier is expected to be effective through shooting rather than biting, his teeth are duly attended to. There is to be one dentist for every thousand men, which would not seem to be any too many.

Information from the Marysville Appeal that will interest a large Oakland contingent: "Speed Martin registered at Pete's and Lon's booth. And what horse hell make with those German lines if they let him throw the hand-grenades."

The Richmond Record-Herald has not yet noticed results in the curbing of food speculation: "Nevertheless and notwithstanding, no grub-cornerer has yet become scared enough to start giving away his stuff."

The Stockton Mail gushes like this: "Strawberries are said to be nothing but 90 per cent water and between 5 and 6 per cent sugar, but some way the Lord has managed to mix something else in that makes them as much nicer than any other berry as your own best girl is nicer than any other girl."

"Lansing emphatically denies the report that the United States aids the Chinese revolution." There are two sources whence such reports could appear—one is the Chinese press and the other the German. Neither of them should worry the Secretary of State.

The railroads say that travel is not to be embargoed on account of the war; that the tourist privilege will be continued, at least until demands upon transportation facilities make it necessary to do otherwise. Which is proper enough.

Chicago restaurants are cutting pies in seven portions, which requires mathematical calculation. The Kansas City Star says that in this work the restaurant proprietors may be employing a lot of engineers who ought to be at the front.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

One of the most peculiar accidents in the history of mining occurred at the Brandy City hydraulic mine. A thunderstorm came up and a bolt of lightning struck the top of the high bank under which a number of men were working, causing an immense cave-in and endangering the lives of all the employees. The theory is that lightning struck a wire cable which is anchored with a "dead-man," some distance back from the bank, the electric current running down the wire and acting as an immense blast. But one man was injured to any extent.—Downville Messenger.

The silent jury is the latest proposition put forward by labor unions in the Rena Mooney trial in San Francisco. What is meant by a "silent" jury is a selected number of labor union men to sit and listen to the testimony in the trial as spectators and then render a verdict in accordance with their judgment as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant. Here is a well-laid plan to create an extraneous influence in a criminal trial that would interfere with the machinery of justice.—Sacramento News.

A company composed of San Francisco and Oakland capitalists will immediately commence dredging operations for gold at Scott's Flat, where the company controls a large number of acres of ground of proven richness. The dredge will arrive in three days and will be hauled to the company's property and assembled as fast as skilled labor can do it.—Nevada City News.

NOT BY WAR BREAD ALONE

Since he came to this country Rene Viviani has delivered a series of addresses, long and short, frequently under conditions of haste and pressure, on all sorts of occasions, and each time from an inspiring text he has struck fire—a fire that is not of sparks quickly extinguished, but that of lambent flame that long continues to illumine the altars of sacrifice and warm the heart of patriotism. His first thought and his last is for "a spiritual union across the sea." The phrase reminds us that, while we send men and money, munitions and provisions, ambulances and motor trucks, it is important not to enmesh ourselves in the material part of the performance to such an extent that we are blind and deaf to the exalted motive of our response. The Latin races are more eloquent and more demonstrative than ourselves. They are fond of expressing a sentiment, and we, a little mistrustful of language, are proficient in mechanical devices and practically resourceful. We have needed such an apostle as Viviani to keep our heads higher than our tasks. He has led us to look beyond the details to the exalted and transfiguring purpose for which the very name of France has come to stand—a purpose in which the two great republics joined long ago, whose alliance is now solemnly renewed.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

BACK TO LIFE'S NECESSITIES.

The Board of Trade of Newport, R. I., advocates the carrying home of purchases of all kinds by shoppers because the storekeepers will be short of help. They are to ask boards of trade in other cities to appeal in behalf of similar action. The advantage of such procedure would be considerable now and greater later on as the demand for men in the service shall thin out to the present supply. There is no reason to believe that we are to escape many of the readjustments which have been forced upon the countries of Europe. In many ways we are going to be reduced to simpler ways of living and a more basic understanding of the essentials of life. In due course we shall be forced to learn how many conveniences are of no real consequence. People grow in character through their trials and losses, and these are coming to us. At the same time care should be exercised that our relinquishments are such as contribute to the general well-being, and that none of them are calculated to lessen it. There is no reason to be disappointed in the purpose to see a that is everywhere exhibited. The softness of our prosperity does not mean any such loss of moral fiber as pressing facts have been too quick and confident in asserting.—Springfield Republican.

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO

Almost the entire fortune of the late Duncan B. Finch, it was announced, was to be given to the Fred Finch Orphanage of Fruitvale, which the deceased founded in memory of his son. The estate was valued at $75,000.

F. M. Smith returned from a flying trip to England, where the stockholders of the borax company held a meeting.

The city health department issued a report in which it was shown there were sixty deaths and sixty-three births in May. Of those who died twenty-eight were males and thirty-two were females. Of those born twenty-five were males and thirty-eight were females.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Britton and family, Mrs. M. E. Robinson, Miss Bessie B. Robinson and W. J. Robinson passed their summer vacation in camp in Niles canyon.

THE MAN BEHIND THE CHECK.

You may talk from Maine to Frisco Of the man behind the gun.
You may give him all the credit When a victory is won.
But he's got to have the powder In the battle front to trek,
And the man who loads the Maxim Is the man behind the check.

Shell and shrapnel, bomb and bullet,
Must be bought and paid for, too,
And the army needs its rations,
Soup and coffee, bread and stew,
Khaki, armored cars and horses
Call for money by the peck.
So the man who wins the battle
Is the man who signs the check.
—Minna Irving in New York Sun.

FOLLOW HONDURAS.

"Honduras has broken with Germany."
You laugh—but have you—
Have you made any sacrifice, little or big, joined the Red Cross, started a garden, bought a war bond or done anything of any kind to help your country win the war against Germany? If you have not, little Honduras is just the example you most need.—Chicago Evening Post.

"BEST BE THE TIE THAT BINDS"

Not the Answer Expected.
Closeman was feeling his way before definitely engaging the physician famous for his high charges.
"Pardon me, doctor," he said, "but do you—take off anything for cash?"
"Certainly," was the reply. "What would you like taken off—a hand or a foot?"—Boston Transcript.

The Burr of the Thistle.

A sturdy Scot, 6 feet 5 inches in height, is a gamekeeper near Stratford. One hot day last summer he was accompanying a bumptious sportsman, of very small stature, when he was greatly troubled by gnats. The other said to him: "My good man, why is it that the gnats do not trouble me?"
"I, naturally," replied the gamekeeper, with a comprehensive glance at the other's small proportions, "it will be because they haven't seen ya yet!"—Tit Bits.

Full Measure.

The minister dropped into the village barbershop for a shave, at the close of which he proffered the usual 10-cent price of the shop.
"I'll take it in preaching, sir," replied the polite barber, refusing the offered coin.
"My friend," rejoined the minister, with some dignity, "I haven't a 10-cent sermon."
"That's all right, sir," quickly retorted the barber; "then I'll come twice."—Christian Herald.

203 MINERS DOOMED BY SHOT FIRE AT BUTTE

Bodies of 36 Recovered; 200 Safety First Experts Work to Effect Rescue of Living

212 WORKMEN MAKE WAY OUT OF DIGGINGS

Blaze Believed Due to Carbide Lamp or Electric Wiring; Two Are Saved by Air Pipes

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. BUTTE, Mont., June 9.—With thirty-six known dead and 167 men missing as the result of a fire which broke out in the Speculator mine of the North Butte Company last night, Butte is today wrestling with the worst mining disaster in its history.

The fire broke out in the lower levels of the Speculator mine at 11:45 p.m. last night as the result of a broken power cable that carried electricity to the underground pumps. Lower levels of the mine quickly filled with smoke and gas.

There were 415 men employed on the night shift of this mine. Of these 212 escaped through levels connecting with other mines. The gas spread to the Diamond mine and took a toll of life in that property. Helmet men, mine rescue crews and safety-first squads from all the mines in Butte are at work this morning seeking to penetrate the gas-filled workings of the Speculator, the Diamond and High Ore mines in the hope of finding the larger body of men.

At 8 o'clock this morning helmet men were preparing to make a thorough exploration of the lower High Ore workings. This property adjoins the Speculator and the only expectation that the missing Speculator men are still alive is that they fled to this mine. Even if alive it is believed that they are helpless because of the smoke and gas. Officials at the High Ore believe that if the 123 missing miners are not found to have made their way to the High Ore workings they are doomed.

Physicians and nurses, during the night, been summoned to the Speculator and all adjoining mines and scores of men were treated. Many have been taken to hospitals. Scores of men were rescued in a semi-conscious condition.

According to miners who escaped from the shaft the fire started from flames of a carbide lamp.

The men were ordered to report by the timekeeper as they emerged from the mine. Two hundred and eleven men had so reported after the rescue work started, out of the 415 who went down in the night shift.

Two men who were working 700 feet below reported that 48 had perished on the level where they worked, they alone being saved.

RESCUE WORK RUSHED. All ambulances in Butte and all physicians in the city were summoned to the scene immediately to care for the men with National Guardsmen and rescue parties composed of miners. Every safety-first expert in the district also has been summoned and it is estimated that within a few hours 250 safety-first men, trained to mine rescue work, will be at the Speculator and Granite Mountain shafts.

The Speculator is a mining property of the North Butte Company, connected with the Granite Mountain shaft, which has an electric hoist capable of raising seven tons at a speed of 3000 feet a minute. The Speculator is 2300 feet deep. This mine is also connected with the High Ore mine, the Diamond mine and the Tuolumne, in which it is thought some of the Speculator miners sought refuge.

AMSTERDAM, June 9 (correspondence of the Associated Press).—The Central powers now hold nearly 3,000,000 prisoners of war, according to official figures published in German newspapers. Germany has 1,800,731 prisoners, including 17,474 officers; Austria-Hungary, 1,092,055; Bulgaria, 67,582; and Turkey, 23,903. A total of 2,874,271 prisoners, of whom 27,620 are officers. Welfare Board Report Heeded Says Poirier

District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes and Jean B. Poirier, foreman of the Grand Jury, today said that the report of the Alameda County Board of Public Welfare had been heeded, as was charged in a statement issued yesterday by Chairman A. H. Markwart of the Board of Public Welfare as an introduction to the report of that organization.

"The reports have been considered and acted upon," said Poirier, "and will be mentioned in the final report of the Grand Jury, which is now being prepared. Some of the recommendations made by the Board of Public Welfare have been favorably considered and every matter brought to our attention by the reports has been given proper attention.

"For Markwart to say that 'no notice that our reports have been received has ever come from the Grand Jury' is clearly a misstatement of the facts. I have copies of letters written to the Board of Public Welfare acknowledging the receipt of their reports and the matters they contained have been taken by me before the Grand Jury.

"Of course nothing has been given out for publication regarding the Grand Jury's action, this being against the law, but in its final report its action and recommendations will be outlined.

The second general quarterly report for 1917 of the Alameda County Board of Public Welfare, which the grand jury "to inform itself of the facts relating to the county hospital and infirmary and to take immediate action to assist Alameda county in securing a centrally located hospital," was filed yesterday by Markwart.

No acknowledgment has ever been made by the grand jury," writes Markwart, "no questions have been asked, nor, so far as this board has been able to learn, has any attention been given the earnest requests of this board that the grand jury interest itself in some of the social questions involved, and make an effort to correct some of the abuses which were an increasing disgrace to the county."

DETAILS WITHHELD. Whether the grand jury's final report will include any very drastic recommendations is considered doubtful and the district attorney and members of the grand jury are under oath not to give out any information regarding the proceeding of the grand jury until the final report is filed.

For the purpose of denying Markwart's statement Poirier was forced to intimate that the grand jury would make some recommendations regarding the hospital in its final report, but refused to go into details as to what these recommendations would be or that they in any way would be related to the matters taken up in the quarterly reports of the Alameda County Board of Public Welfare.

BRITISH WIN NEW TEUTON POSITIONS

Hindenburg Line Is Pierced on Front of More Than Two Miles South of Souchez River

Germans Make Counter Attacks That Are Beaten Back by Both English and French

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LONDON, June 9, 2:46 p. m.—The British attacked last night south of the Souchez river and entered the German positions in a front of more than two miles, the war office announced. The German line was penetrated to a depth of more than a half mile. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Germans.

The attack extended north of the river. The statement says operations were carried on with complete success on a wide front from south of Lens to La Bassée.

The Germans made a powerful counter-attack last night nearly the whole length of the new front. They were repulsed completely, the British retaining all the ground captured.

PARIS, June 9.—Germans made four fruitless attacks on French positions along the Chemin-des-Dames last night, the war office announced today. The attacks were delivered in quick succession northeast of Cerny.

TEUTON ASSAULTS WEAK. BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LONDON, June 9.—The counter-attack staged by the British advance in the Ypres-Witschaete sector today. All through the night, from despatches said, the victorious Tommies were busy consolidating their new positions, digging fresh trench systems and preparing for the expected enemy counter-thrusts. The German assaults of this type, which, according to the rules of the war game, may be expected to follow immediately after an advance by the British, have all been noticeably weak.

The demoralization caused by the unprecedented terrific British artillery fire and the mine operations all seemed to have had their effect on the Germans.

The "Ypres salient," now wiped out in the British advance, was formerly considered so impregnable by the enemy that not near the number of men were held there that manned less strongly fortified positions elsewhere on the front. The Germans, however, had ample time in which to hurry reserves in great strength to make ready for the assault which they could see was impending.

LILLE IS MENACED. But with the Messines-Witschaete ridge now held by the British—the impregnable position taken—it was pointed out today that from now on Germany must keep an unusually strong force along the Ypres sector because of the menace toward Lille. The British victory, therefore, is not alone important in the ground gained, the commanding strategic position on the ridge now held, but because it will further deplete the reserve strength of the enemy by the necessity of the Germans massing forces around Lille.

IRISH FIGHT GALLANTLY. BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LONDON, June 9.—Irish soldiers—members of rival parties and deadly political enemies at home, but brothers of the same blood—fought shoulder to shoulder in the big drive of the British against the Germans in Belgium.

Some of the credit for the British victory at Messines and on the Witschaete ridge go to the gallant Irish soldiers.

About 7000 Germans, more than 130 of them officers, have been captured.

AS REPORTED BY BERLIN. BERLIN, June 9 (via London, 4:15 p. m.).—The British were unable to obtain any advantage in the fresh fighting last evening on the banks of the Ypres-Cambrai canal, the Douve lowlands in Belgium, the war department announced today.

PLAN RUSS LINE. WINNIPEG, June 9.—A through railway route from the United States to Petrograd by way of Canada.

This ambition of United States capitalists has been outlined in a lengthy report to the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The scheme has been considered for some time and negotiations with the railways and governments which will be involved in the project will be opened in the near future.

Increased transportation to the westward without running the risk of submarines sinking ships and assistance in the war for Russia with munitions and food will result if the proposed connection is established.

The plan provides for a standard railway line, connecting United States and British Columbia and Alaska with Bering Strait and a line from the Siberian coast to the trans-Siberian railway.

"GAG RULE" PUT IN NAVY BY DANIELS

Drastic Ruling Follows the Secretary's Denunciation of False Reports of Disaster

Head of Department to Punish Infractions by Subordinates With "Immediate Dismissal"

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Secretary Daniels today issued the following statement: "The Navy Department has reason to believe that information of a character most valuable to the enemy and which might prove most disastrous to the navy, has in some way reached the enemy."

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. WASHINGTON, June 9.—Immediately after announcing that the "country is being poisoned" by the circulation of false reports of naval disasters, Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, put a drastic "gag rule" into effect in the navy department today.

Under Secretary Daniels' ruling naval officers and clerical employees of the department are denied the privilege of discussing the minutest detail of naval affairs with newspaper men or any one else not connected with the department.

All information in future must come from Secretary Daniels himself. From time to time bulletins on naval affairs are issued by the committee on public information, but the secretary said the department would not be responsible for the spread of reports of heavy naval losses.

PENALTY DISMISSAL. The penalty to be inflicted on department employees for discussing ship movements, changes in personnel or any matter relating to the navy is "immediate dismissal."

"The country is being poisoned by reports of battles and disasters—all without the slightest foundation in fact," Daniels said.

This was the statement of Secretary Daniels. The secretary said he is led to the conclusion that enemy agencies are responsible for the spread of reports of heavy naval losses.

"Telegrams from newspapers, inquiries from naval commandants and individual letters indicate a widespread effort to alarm and distress the people of the United States," the secretary said. He denied that any naval battle has taken place in which the American fleet has played an active part; that any American battleship has been lost or that any navy yard has been bombed or that any naval hospital.

PROMISES OPENNESS. "The policy of the Navy Department will be one of absolute openness," the secretary added. "If disaster does come, no effort will be made to minimize it."

These are the most persistent rumors that have come to Daniels' attention:

1. That sixty American and English battleships were either sunk or disabled in a gigantic battle in the North Sea in which the combined fleets of England and the United States went against the German navy.

2. That the superdreadnoughts, Pennsylvania and Texas have been torpedoed and sunk.

3. That naval hospitals along the Atlantic seaboard are filled with crippled sailors and marines—the survivors of a naval engagement.

SPAIN IN DOUBT. MADRID, June 9.—The cabinet council, from which important results were expected, has left the situation still undecided, although the ministers profess optimism. The government is faced with grave difficulties, both military and economic. The direct cause of the trouble is the discontent among army officers, who have formed an association to obtain a betterment of their conditions.

The body formed by infantry officers at Barcelona, demanding matters to a head by presenting a petition for reform which amounted virtually to an ultimatum.

Underlying everything is the economic difficulty, with its consequent unrest among the laboring masses, and which threatens to take the form of a general strike. The reluctance of political chiefs to step into the shoes of the administration further complicates the situation.

GIRL SWIMS GATE. SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—Miss Frances Cowell, holder of a number of American records in swimming, was found to her laurels today when she won the first annual swimming race across the Golden Gate from a field of thirty starters. Her time for the distance, one mile and a quarter, was 41:15. Mrs. Ernest Smith crossed the goal line ahead of Miss Cowell, but was disqualified for swimming around the wrong stake at the finish. The best previous time across the gate was 31:35, made by Miss "Babe" Wright, but that was over the old course, which measures only seven-eighths of a mile. Miss Valery Mahan finished second.

Balfour Eludes U-Boats Pershing Received by King

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LONDON, June 9.—Foreign Minister Arthur J. Balfour reached a British port today, back from his special mission to the United States. Minister Balfour arrived at Euston station, London, later in the afternoon.

Minister Balfour, heading the British mission to America, arrived at a Canadian port in the middle of April and touched American soil first at a small village April 21. The date of his departure was not disclosed.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Announcement of the safe arrival of Arthur J. Balfour and his party at a British port was especially gratifying to officials here. It had been expected he would be a "shining mark" for German submarines and that they would make a determined effort to capture the warship on which the British foreign minister took passage.

Balfour and his party crossed from the United States into Canada by way of Niagara Falls May 25. They then made a brief tour of the leading Canadian cities, finally proceeding to a Canadian port, where they found waiting for them the fast battle cruiser on which they came to America.

It has been generally known here in Washington that the British mission was on its way home, but, as in every other matter affecting the war and the passage of troops or individuals, the secret has been well kept.

PERSHING PRESENTED. LONDON, June 9.—Major-General Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary force to France, was formally received by King George in a private audience today.

General Lord Brooke made the presentation. Pershing and his staff got down to work early today, conferring with British military officials and preparing in every way possible for their transfer at an early date to the French front.

London newspaper comment today overflowed its customary bounds of enthusiasm in greeting the American general and his men.

"The landing of Pershing is an historic event," declared the Daily Express. "He will learn from Admiral Sims how affectionately Great Britain welcomes America's aid. His arrival is a reminder that, while we are hammering the United States is preparing with enthusiasm and ardor to hammer too."

General Pershing talked privately with the king for half an hour and then presented his staff, each one being introduced.

In a brief greeting the king expressed his gratification at meeting the Americans and professed to be behind in his payments on the war of civilization.

"We stick together only one result is possible," his majesty concluded. OFFICERS ARRIVE. A United States army mission, headed by Colonel Baker, and composed of the other officers, arrived in London this afternoon to study war conditions.

BABY KEETS BODY FOUND IN WELL AT OLD HOUSE

Fourteen-Months' Old Heir to $3,000,000 Murdered; Make Threats Against Suspects

ACCUSED MEN TAKEN IN HASTE FROM JAIL

News of Tragedy Spreads and Men Arm for Vengeance; Prisoners Are Spirited Away

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 9.—The body of "Buddy" Keet, 14-months-old heir to a $3,000,000 fortune, was found in an abandoned well behind the deserted Crenshaw mansion on the edge of the city today.

According to an examination made at once, it was apparent the child had been dead for four or five days. There was a wound on the side of the baby's head. It could not be determined whether it was inflicted before death or by hitting against the side of the wall when it was flung into the dark hole.

Mrs. J. Holland Keet, mother of the child, fainted when the news was conveyed to her.

The Crenshaw mansion is the place said to have been used as a rendezvous by the seven suspects under arrest on a charge of conspiring to abduct rich Springfield men and women and hold them for ransom. It is eight miles from the Keet bungalow in Meadowmore.

ARM FOR VENGEANCE. The discovery of the body was made just as the parents were waiting for confirmation from Sparta of a report that the child had been recovered there alive.

Like wildfire, the news of the tragedy spread through Springfield. Men left their work and armed themselves, vowing vengeance.

The guard around the jail where the suspects were held was immediately strengthened.

The hopes of the mother were at their height when an automobile dashed up the driveway to the Keet home.

A friend of the Keet family strode into the bungalow. There came a moment of tense silence. Then came the heart-piercing shriek of a distressed woman. Mrs. Lloyd, mother of Mrs. Keet, stepped on to the porch and addressed a crowd of neighbors who had assembled on the lawn.

"Buddy is dead," she said. "The silence of the crowd was tense. 'They found the body in the well at the Crenshaw place,' continued the grandmother. 'We are trying to tell its mother that this is the best thing, but she is nearly crazy.'"

BABY STOLEN MAY 30. The Keet baby was stolen from the family home here the night of May 30. His parents had gone to a dance and the baby was left with a nurse and an older son. Three men were believed to be the abductors, and it was assumed they took the baby from his crib and escaped in an automobile.

Following the confirmation from the grandmother that the child was dead came an announcement from County Treasurer O'Day that he had absolute evidence that "Buddy" had been kidnapped by Claude "Doc" Pershing and the other prisoners held in the jail. This was enough for the grim men of Springfield. With one accord they turned toward the jail.

"Get rope!" someone shouted. "String 'em up!" broke in another hoarse voice.

Like an immense wave the mob swept toward the jail.

But the Crane county authorities had been too quick for them. Feeling the pulse of rage beating, they had acted. The prisoners were in automobiles under heavy guard, speeding toward another jail. They had a good half-hour start on prospective pursuers.

KILLS 'CHILDREN; SELF

SANTA ROSA, June 9.—James Pasquette, a rancher, and his three children were found dead in the ruins of their burning home near Fulton early today. The sheriff and coroner, after investigating, expressed the belief that Pasquette, while despondent over financial reverses, had shot his three children and committed suicide after setting fire to his house.

Under Pasquette's body were found five exploded revolver shells. Four of these showed the marks of a firing pin and the fifth is believed to have been exploded after the fire by the heat of the flames.

Mrs. Pasquette and one daughter are working in a cannery in San Francisco or Oakland.

NEW LOANS TO ALLIES

WASHINGTON, June 9.—A three-million-dollar loan was today granted to Serbia. The loan is to be paid in three monthly installments of $1,000,000 each and is to be used for the building of military railways, relief of the civilian population and Red Cross work.

At the same time a $75,000,000 loan was granted to Great Britain on June account, bringing the total of America's loans to the allied powers up to $323,000,000. Additional loans are to be made during the month to France, England and Belgium.

These will push the total of American loans well over the billion-dollar mark.

KAISER NEARLY BOMBED

LONDON, June 9.—(12:20 p. m.)—Emperor William was with Field Marshal von Hindenburg, Prince Frederick and other members of the German emperor's staff inside the St. Peter's station at Ghent, Belgium, when it was bombed by entente allied airmen the other day, according to a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from a Dutch frontier correspondent. The emperor's party was unhurt but three army officers near by were killed.

PATROLS TO GUARD CROP

SACRAMENTO, June 9.—Night and day patrol systems for protection of growing grain and other crops may be inaugurated in a number of counties if suggestions made today by the State Council of Defense are carried out. Because of the millions of dollars represented in increased crop production and danger that fire may destroy some of the crops, the council has requested that each county council inaugurate regular patrol systems. It is proposed that restricted zones be established, from which persons who cannot give a good account of themselves will be prohibited and a clerical watch kept on all persons traveling through such districts.

WILLIAM REDMOND SLAIN

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, June 9.—William Redmond, Irish Nationalist leader, brother of John Redmond, died in an ambulance today while on the way to a hospital back from the firing line where he was wounded.

Redmond had been serving as a major with the British army. The fact was pointed out today—as illustrative of the perfect fraternalism between all who are fighting England's battles, that Major Redmond died in an Ulster ambulance—manned by the very men against whom he and his brother John Redmond have been waging bitter political war for years.

GOETHALS NAMES AIDS

WASHINGTON, June 9.—General George W. Goethals today selected successors to F. E. Eustis and F. H. Clark of the shipping board's emergency fleet corporation, both advocates of wooden ships.
